Summer Reading Research Paper Assignment

Directions: You will be researching the historical context of the novel that you read over the summer. You will gather the information during your social studies class and write the research paper with your English teacher.

Task: You have three days to complete your research on the historical context of the novel you read over the summer.

- Use Microsoft Word to compile information about the historical context of your novel. Your research paper will include a thesis statement that must either compare how your novel was historically accurate or was not historically accurate.
- You will need citations for all your information. You can use www.easybib.com to help with the creation of your citations.
- You will also complete a graphic organizer in the form of a Facebook page for your social studies class. The template is located on the Samoset website, social studies department webpage.
- You will need to have three separate resources for your research paper. You must use one book, one database, and one website from the library book-marks.
